BULGARIAN AFFAIRS.
Sofia, Sept. 8.—Prince Alexander arrived here this morning. He made a triumphant entry into the city, escorted by the municipal authorities of Sofia.
London, Sept. 3.—Before leaving Philippopolis Prince Alexander announced his intention of doing his utmost to secure the sympathy and unity of the Czar.
The Vidovost, of Moscow, warns Alexander not to delay resigning the crown to the Czar.
It is stated that the Czar's reply to Prince Alexander has stopped German attempts to conciliate Alexander.
The Turkish Exarch has summoned Metropolitan Clement before the tribunal to explain his connection with the Coup d'Etat.
St. Petersburg, Sept. 3.—Prince Alexander's communication to the Czar caused the greatest excitement here. Diplomats consider that Alexander has made a political mistake and the general opinion is that he must abdicate.
Paris, Sept. 3.—The Republique Francaise, commenting on the published correspondence between the Czar and Prince Alexander, says:— After the Czar's reply the House of Battenberg may be considered to have ceased to reign in Bulgaria. That reply also humiliates England, whose lamentations nobody regards. Events in Egypt prove England's incurable egotism. France must arrive at an entente cordiale with Russia, both on the Mediterranean and in the east against the Russian invasion.
Vienna, Sept. 3.—The Austrian press generally pronounced Prince Alexander's letter of the 30th to the Czar a fatal mistake, and a cue that his abdication is now inevitable.
Telegrams received here from Sofia state that the Czar's reply to Prince Alexander's letter has produced a profound impression throughout Bulgaria.
The despatches say that the Czar's proclaimed hostility has paralyzed the movement in favor of Prince Alexander's return to the throne and encouraged the revolutionists. It is further stated that Prince Alexander's abdication is believed to be imminent.
London, Sept. 3.—An attempt was made to wreck the train conveying Prince Alexander to Sofia. When near Philippopolis the engineer discovered an obstruction and brought the train to a standstill. An investigation showed that five sleepers had been placed across the rails. Prince Alexander, when informed of the attempt upon his life, showed no signs of fear, maintaining a calm demeanor.
A conflict between the revolutionists and the followers of Prince Alexander at Sofia has been going on there. This revolutionary party regard Prince Alexander as an additional to Prince Alexander and appealed to him for assistance.
Bulgaria is now tranquil. Prince Alexander, when he reached Bucharest on his journey to Sofia, telegraphed to the Sultan assurances of his loyalty and devotion. Alexander was not met at Philippopolis by the representatives of all foreign countries except that of Russia. He has announced his intention to act on an advisory basis to all who ask for one. Col. Mikha-loff is treating with rebel officers for submission, and negotiations will probably be successful. It is stated that Russia interferes for the lives of the emigrants, and that Prince Alexander has decided to leave his country thereon.
London, September 7.—It is stated that Russia continues her endeavors to form an alliance with Turkey. The Bulgarian Government has offered Prince Alexander the sum of 3,000,000 francs. The Princes refused to accept more than 500,000 francs. Russia has now offered Alexander money for his personal wants. The Italian press unanimously denounces Russia's attitude on the Bulgarian question.
Sofia, Sept. 6.—M. Stancheff and M. Radoslaw appeared at the Russian Consulate in this city today and in the name of the Government demanded: First, the name of the candidate for the Bulgarian throne whom Russia favors; second, a formal promise that Russia will not occupy Bulgaria; thirdly, that the present constitution be maintained, the freedom of Bulgaria respected, and the country allowed to manage its domestic affairs; and fourthly, that if Russia sends a general to Bulgaria he must act simply as minister of war and organize the army. These demands have been telegraphed to St. Petersburg and an answer is awaited.

Prince Alexander is suffering from insomnia and is weak and nervous. Mr. Lascelles, the British consul, tried to persuade Alexander from formally abdicating, advising him simply to leave the country.
The Zankoff party refuse to join the regency council.
London, Sept. 6.—Prince Alexander will tomorrow proclaim his abdication. Russia Consulates in Bulgaria are distributing for signature petitions to the Czar favoring the election of the Prince of Oldenburg as successor to Alexander.

of absence till end of year.

BROADVIEW.
—The stock and produce sale fair was held on Saturday 4th inst., and was successful as expected. The stock brought in was of excellent quality, and though not all sold, yet such as were disposed of realized good prices, and the transactions promise well for future fair days. Some fine thoroughbred bulls, solid even, good milk cows, well fattened calves, excellent sheep, besides dressed poultry, pork, and a few other articles, and both buyers and sellers seemed fairly satisfied.
It is expected that on future fair days an efficient auctioneer will attend, and stock may be entered for sale on very favorable conditions.
There are a considerable number of hogs and some good beef cattle for sale in this district and these are well worth the attention of dealers.
The directors of Broadview agricultural society held a meeting in the afternoon. Matters were arranged for the third annual exhibition, to be held on Thursday, 23rd September.
The prizes are now being distributed.
—Fashion demands that when young people marry they shall go away on a wedding trip, which means no small outlay of cash. A couple recently married felt this pressure, but conceived a scheme by which to thwart the process of custom and save the item of expense. They went to the station, accompanied by a party of friends, and bought a train, with good byes and all around, the friends extending the regular wishes for a safe and happy tour. Oh, no? They walked through the car and out at the end opposite that at which they entered, and getting off on the opposite side, quickly slipped around to their home, where they remained in society for a week, while friends thought they were enjoying the honeymoon.
Two bands have been discovered on the Lake Superior Railway tracks in the Chicago stock yards.

N. W. COUNCIL.

SESSION OF 1886.

Full and Unbiased Reports! of the Proceedings will be given in

The Qu'Appelle Progress.

Session to open about the 13th October.

Our reports will be characterized by fairness, and will be fuller than ever reported heretofore. The Progress is determined to lead all others in its attention to all matters concerning the Northwest. Though only a few weeks established at the Session of 1885, its editorial articles were characterized by a spirit of independence which won for it the confidence and respect of all classes, and made for itself an immediate place in the front rank of journalism. Send in your subscriptions at once and do not delay till the Session begins and then miss the first part of the proceedings. One dollar for one year, payable invariably in advance.

OLIVER'S BABY CRYING FOR AN ELECTION.

The Edmonton Bulletin takes exception to our remarks in reference to a Dominion election being held in the Northwest before the general election. The Bulletin starts out by saying that The Progress "has some claims to being considered an organ of both federal and local governments." No, The Progress is the organ of the people of this country, and it is happy to say that its views and those of the vast majority of the settlers are heartily agreed upon the fact that the policy of the present Government is conducive to the development and prosperity of the Northwest as well as of the whole Dominion. The Dominion Administration is not afraid to appeal to the electors of the Territories on a straight party issue. The chief reason for delay is the expense as we have stated in previous issues. If the Government was only actuated by interests of party, they would at once appeal to the Northwest and be overwhelmingly sustained but as we stated in the article referred to by the Bulletin that would have an undue influence upon the elections cast, which though temporarily advantageous would reflect injuriously as it is to the older provinces the Government must look for its support. Even our Edmonton contemporary is compelled to admit the force of our objection on the score of cost. It says: "that the Northwest might lose as much as it would gain by having two federal elections in one year is possible." Still it goes on to find fault with the Government for delaying the election. It takes a lot to satisfy some people; not even the whole earth with the moon thrown in would do it.

John Wallace, who is now at Dawson, Dakota, writes to the Manitoban: "I have met over one hundred Canadians in Dakota Territory, and only one or two of them were Conservatives. The rest were all Grits, who had been advised to come here by the Toronto Globe." The above mentioned fact may account for the success of the Conservative party in the last two Dominion elections. It does seem to be a fact that one set of newspapers has fostered a spirit of Canadian loyalty, and another set in their partisan blindness have warped the minds of their readers with views that have driven many to the United States, when they could have done better in the Canadian Northwest. This may also account for the other fact that the great majority of the settlers in the Territories are Conservatives in politics.

The Canadian-American published at Chicago, rises the second time to remark: "Once more we desire to draw attention to the fact that no Canadian has been found among the anarchists."

NOT A HERO AFTER ALL.

Appropos of the following despatch, which has appeared in most of the daily papers, a well-known Northwest volunteer officer writes to the Montreal Star, charging that Gabriel Dumont was by no means the hero he has been represented: "Five hundred French Canadians visited Woodstock, R. J. Sunday, and presented Gabriel Dumont, who was the fighting lieutenant under Louis Riel in the Northwest rebellion, with a handsome gold watch."

The officer, who signs himself Anti-Fraud, says: In justice to many a brave though mistaken rebel of 1885, I ask permission through the columns of your valuable paper to correct an error into which many in the east have fallen in reference to Gabriel Dumont and his actions. Some people have even gone so far as to recognize his supposed bravery by a pension. The facts, well known by the people where he lived, are that at Fish Creek and Batoche he not only was not the courageous, skillful fighting leader of the rebels, but utterly failed under fire to show even ordinary pluck. At Fish Creek he ran away very soon after his first fire was replied to by our advanced scouts, and was not well on his way back to Batoche (18 miles) by the rebel reinforcements just coming out. This party of about thirty-two men he tried his best to persuade to turn back, but they, in spite of his representations, not only came on, but compelled him to come also. So shameful had been his conduct that he had to defend himself from the charges made against him before the excovidate or council. During the four days at Batoche his almost constant desire was to go to the camp in the rear and send up more men, and at no time during the fighting hours was he prominent among the rebel leaders. But, as soon as fighting at night was over, he was prominent enough fighting the sisters and priests at the mission, and looking for our wounded, which he thought were scattered there by these kind ladies and reverend fathers. But for the interference and threats of an Indian it is altogether probable that the church in Canada would have to mourn for another martyr, in the person of Rev. Father Maunin, sacrificed to the cowardly nature of Gabriel Dumont. If it is absolutely necessary for a certain section of people to fall upon and worship some of the late rebels, for pity's sake let them adore some one of acknowledged bravery and loyalty, at least a respectable position among his fellow-citizens of the west.

THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF THE WESTERN DIVISION.

But few people in Winnipeg have any personal acquaintance with Mr. William Whyte, who has just been appointed general superintendent of the western division, but all those who do not know him speak in the highest terms of his ability and general character. Mr. Whyte, like most railroaders, was not born to the purple, but has reached his present responsible position after many years of toil some climbing. He started on the Grand Trunk about twenty years ago, as a freight clerk in Toronto, and for some years was engaged in miscellaneous work. At the time the Grand Trunk was a wide gauge railway the cars of the connecting American lines were so constructed that they could be fitted to either broad or narrow gauge, and one of Mr. Whyte's early positions was to change the gauges at the point near Sarnia where the American lines met the G. T. R. Subsequently he was station agent at Stratford and others points in the west, and then he became freight agent for the Grand Trunk at Toronto.

A few more years saw him on the Credit Valley road as general superintendent, and when that road was absorbed by the Canadian Pacific Railway he still retained for awhile. He was then removed to Toronto and given general charge of the terminal lines in West-End Ontario, and performed the duties so well that when Mr. Archer Baker resigned the general superintendency to represent the road in England he went to Montreal and took his place. His duties there were numerous and responsible. He had to look after the C. P. R. main line from Quebec to Port Arthur, the Ontario & Quebec from Port to Toronto, the Toronto, Grey & Bruce, the Brockville & Ottawa, and the numerous others lines controlled by the Canadian Pacific. He did the work to the satisfaction of everyone, but it impaired his health and he has been in Europe for some time recuperating. His reason for leaving the eastern for the western division is that he thinks there will be less work here.

His successor on the eastern division will probably be his assistant, Mr. C. W. Spencer, who has been with the Canadian Pacific ever since they acquired the Canadian Central, and has worked his way up to the Assistant-General Superintendency of the eastern division. He is only a young man yet—30 or so—but he knows more about railroading than most men twice his age.—Free Press.

INDIAN PLEASANTRIES.

On or about the 22nd ult., the large band of sheep referred to last week as belonging to E. J. De-More of Frenchtown, Montana, were passing through the Blood Reserve, and had reached the Belly River, where they were stopped for a rest. At this point some twenty-five Indians appeared on the scene and sat down around the band of sheep. Presently one Indian started off at full gallop, and rode through one corner of the band, frightening them terribly. Another Indian ordered the foreman to move the sheep away at once, and at the same time went around and bunched them. At this all the Indians rose up suddenly, shouting and whooping with the object of frightening the sheep. The foreman ordered the Indians to stop their noise, and they did so for a moment. The sheep were then driven to the bank of the river, with two men on each bank to prevent them from straying into the bush. When the sheep in advance had reached the bottom of the bank, the Indians rushed forward on the rear of the band, yelling and waving their blankets, by this means frightening the sheep, and forcing them down the bank in such a manner that they piled upon one another about twenty deep. In this way 108 sheep were smothered and killed; two died secondarily, and two more were injured beyond recovery, making 112 in all. The men in charge of the sheep made repeated and unnecessary efforts to stop the Indians from frightening the sheep.

The rest of the band was then driven across the river, and while this was being done, the Indians surrounded the sheep, cut them up, and carried them off as fast as possible. The Indians behaved in such a threatening manner that the men in charge of the sheep were afraid to interfere any further than they did.

The above is the substance of an affidavit taken in by Eugene Humbert, Mr. De-More's foreman. This is verified by the affidavits of three more of the men, who were with the driver, and saw everything as it took place.

Capt. Hill was sent out by Major Cotton to inquire into the matter. The whole affair was thoroughly sifted.—McLeod Gazette.

THE NORTH-WEST POLICY.

The policy of the Government in dealing with North-west affairs has always been wise and judicious, and calculated to advance the interests of that country. To remove the disabilities under which the settlers have been placed by the manner in which the country was brought into Confederation, has also been a primary object with the present administration. The Calgary Herald points this out in a concise article in its last issue. "Reforms," says the Herald, "have followed each other of late with a rapidity which leaves little to be desired, and some of these reforms have been such as residents in the territories did not expect for a number of years. Some of these reforms in fact have been of a most radical character. The abolition of the office of stipendiary magistrates, the establishment of a Court of Appeal at Regina; the extension of the Supreme Court Act to the territories, mark reforms in the administration of justice in the territories which of themselves mark an era in the history of the country. Going further, we have within the past twelve months been granted the most highly prized of our privileges, that of representation in the Commons and Senate of Canada. In that time, also, the half-breed question throughout the territories has been definitely settled for all time and the Indian title which has caused two rebellions in Canada has been definitely extinguished. At the same time the old system of reserving land has been directly revised and the land given to the settlers; the lease system has been so far modified as to form no barrier to settlement, and both government and C. P. R. lands all through the country placed on the market. Within that time railway and telegraphic communication has been opened straight through the territories to either coast and the government has constructed other telegraph lines for the convenience and safety of scattered settlements. All this is a brilliant showing for any government, and must mark the beginning of a period of great and unrestricted prosperity for the whole country."

A new point has been raised in connection with the seizure by the United States revenue cutter of two Canadian vessels in Behring Straits, on the ground that they were carrying seals in the water ceded to the United States by Russia. Of these vessels one is said to have been captured 65 miles from the coast, and the other 120 miles from the nearest point from land. The point is, did Russia have the right to convey to the United States by the treaty in connection with the sale of Alaska the greater part of Behring Straits; will any foreign government recognize such a right under international law? If the United States has the right to prohibit fishermen from taking fur seals 120 miles from land, has not the United States the same right to prohibit British or Norwegian whalers from taking whales within the same seas. Treaty rights in Behring Straits have never been touched. It is possible that the seizure of these two Canadian vessels may bring these rights into dispute.

Germany is making a bold effort to wrest from Great Britain the latter's commercial supremacy on the seas. The United States consul at Annaburg has just sent to the State Department at Washington the details of the plans for so doing. German steamers already compete with those of England in the trans-Atlantic trade, but the design now is to capture a share of the trade of Asia and Australia. Bismark is the author of the scheme, and he proposes that the Government shall heavily subsidize new lines of steamers, which are to be stronger and faster than any sailing to the Orient. The English time from Suez to Hong Kong is 28 1/2 days, and the French 28 days. The Germans expect to make the trip in 24 1/2 days. English vessels occupy 33 days in going from Suez to Melbourne, and the French 35 days. The Germans advertise that they will do it in 30 1/2 days. The English will have to look to their laurels; Bismark generally carries out what he proposes.
